

Lomita to Get Traffic Lights

Construction of pedestrian "walk-don't walk" traffic signals at the intersection of Eschelman Avenue and Lomita Boulevard, have been authorized by the Board of Supervisors.

Supervisor Burton W. Chase said the "projected signal modification will help to maintain pedestrian as well as motorist safety."

The busy intersection, the supervisor added, presently is carrying a daily average of 17,000 vehicles over the streets, which are included in the County Master Plan Highways program.

Installation of the signals will be scheduled by the Los Angeles County Road Department pending completion of other portions of the current project load.
